A crime has just occurred in your neighborhood, several people are lying injured and dead on the floor. You were very lucky to be alive and unharmed. However, your darling wife has been captured /kidnapped by the assailant (enemy). The rescue team (police , fire, and ambulance services,) are on the scene. You need to leave the scene ASAP to chase down the kidnappers who by now have headed for the wood/forest/wilderness or go to the officer who offered to help.

You can either work with the police, or fire, or ambulance service to locate your darling wife or head into your truck and trace them down yourself. You will need a survival kit, ammunition, gas for truck and head light for the woods. Your primary goal is to safely rescue your wife from the hands of the enemy and remain alive yourself. You will lose your strength and health as the enemy hits you, if your health gets too low, you die and lose your mission.
